AIR ATTACK THREAT – DRONES

1. If you hear a modulated alarm and announcements about an air attack threat, or if you see/hear an unidentified object approaching, act immediately:
    - Move away from the window and do not record the event with your phone.
    - Follow the instructions of emergency services and comply with the RCB alert and official announcements.
    - Immediately take the stairs to the nearest shelter, which on campus is the underground garage marked with a navy-blue triangle on an orange background.
    - If you are at home and cannot get to the nearest shelter, go as far inside your house/apartment as possible and hide in a room separated from the street by at least two solid walls. Choose a windowless room on the lowest floor – this could be a bathroom without a gas heater or other heating device.
    - If you are outside and cannot get to the nearest shelter crouch down and seek cover behind the nearest concrete wall or in any depression. If there's no shelter, just drop to the ground and cover your head with your hands.
    - If you are in a car, get out and park it in a way that does not block emergency vehicles. Look for the nearest shelter point, maybe an underground passage, a low area, a concrete cover, etc. If there is no shelter, just drop to the ground and cover your head with your hands.
    - Plug your ears, open your mouth. It is protection against the shockwave. A simple gesture that can save your hearing and lungs.
    - Do not move until there is at least 10 minutes of silence and you hear an alarm or message cancelling the threat.
